God Made Animals: Genesis 1:24, 25

Family Talk

Children have a natural curiosity about the world around them. Sharp young eyes, questioning minds, and very busy hands automatically explore things from nature. What child can resist bounding after a tiny toad, touching the petals of a sunflower, or collecting lightning bugs on a summer night?

Take advantage of informal opportunities to talk about God the creator when children explore their world. Reinforce the truths of God's presence, goodness, and power. You can significantly impact your child's appreciation of nature and understanding of our wonderful creator during the early years. Take time to "stop and smell the roses" with your child.

Bible Memory FUN

Genesis 1:1, 31

Find these verses in a family Bible. Pick a street and name it Bible Verse Lane. Every time you and your child travel down that street, say the Bible verses.

This week, help your child remember:

God made all the animals.

Family Fun...

Animal Place Mats. Using old magazines, have your child cut out pictures of animals that God has made. Next, glue the pictures onto sheets of construction paper. Help your child cover the sheets with clear adhesive covering. Make a place mat for every member of your family. During mealtime, have family members talk about the different animals on their place mats. Thank God for all the animals.

Daily Talks with God

Use these thoughts at mealtimes, bedtimes, or other times when you pray with your child this week.

God, You are good. Thank You for making animals.

God, thank You for making animals that live in water.

Thank You, God, for making animals that live on land.
